HOW DO I PAY ON TRANSPORT IN MADRID?

Bear in mind that you can pay for a bus trip with any internationally recognised credit card. However, the Multicard option below is much more efficient especially if you are visiting for a few days.

1. BUS AND METRO MULTI-CARD

<https://www.citylifemadrid.com/getting-around-madrid-public-transport/>

1.2 Single & 10 Trips Tickets

If you happen to be visiting Madrid for only a few days or weeks, or if you don't need to use the public transport system on a daily basis, you can use Madrid's more short-term option known as the Multi Card. As with the personal public transport card, you will first need to purchase the card itself (only 2.5€), then you top up the short-term pass of your choice onto the card. The Multi Card offers two options: Single tickets and 10 trip tickets.

Single & 10 trips tickets – Prices & Where to Buy

Multi Transportation Card

Price: 2,5€

Use: This is a "use as you go" type of card. You can either top it up once you need to take a ride or top up 10 rides in advance

Where to use it: Madrid Metro, urban & night buses

How to get it: You can get it at any machine at the entry of any metro station

Documents: No documents required

If you lose it: You have to get a new one for 2,5€

A single journey on public transport in Madrid will usually cost between 1,50€ and 2€, making it very budget friendly. If you don't want to top up your card every time you need it, you should consider buying a 10 trip ticket which costs just 12,20€. Both tickets work on metro and bus systems within zone A. As the Multi Card is not personalized, it can be shared with others.

Buying the Multi Card and its corresponding tickets is incredibly easy. All you need to do is go to any metro station in Madrid and place your order at any of the ticket machines there. These machines look like ATMs but will have the branding of the Madrid metro on them. Once there you can pay either in cash or with credit card.

Please be aware that you may change freely between various metro lines once you are inside the metro system. But changing from metro to bus or from one bus to another means that you have to use your card again. That being said, you can also top up your Multi Card from the bus driver – but only in cash.
